

Chance for Children

making a difference through the creative arts

Would you like to work with us to help vulnerable children?

We are looking for an arts therapist

We are a small charity based in West London. We provide individual arts therapy sessions for children and young people and support for their families. We also organise art, story making and music groups in schools and early years' settings.

We are looking for an experienced Integrated Arts Therapist, preferably able to work with music and /or drama as part of our therapeutic arts programme in primary schools. If you have experience of working alongside multi-disciplinary teams which include either psychotherapy or social work we would like to hear from you. This is a part time post (one and half days a week) with opportunities for further development.

All team members are subject to enhanced DBS checks
